With the transition period (1 February 2020 to 31 December 2020) having come to an end, the UK Intellectual Property Office has updated its guide concerning changes affecting UK intellectual property (IP) law after leaving the EU IP system.

The guide provides an overview of the measures in force from 1 January 2021, summarising the key changes for individual IP rights, and outlining different implications when dealing with representatives and intermediaries.

You may access the guide via the link below.
